General Comment

Good afternoon,

I just sat in on MSHA's Quarterly Training session involving miners working alone.

If the New Workplace Exam Rule does indeed go into effect it will put miners in danger at most operations across the country.

Having to perform a pre-shift workplace examination will force operators to put their employees in a situation where they are working alone and probably in the dark.

Please leave the Workplace Exam Rule as it is because it is working.

Thank you,

Dan Kuper
